Version 2009-01-13

Supersedes the first version dated 25 Aug 2008, now available at

<http://www.slainte.org.uk/edug/edug930/docs/EDUG930-Geographic-expansions-2008-08-25.pdf>

In this document possible geographic expansions in 931-939 and Table 2—3 are listed with literary warrant from WorldCat included. The areas are put in DDC order.

The numbers for Great Britain can be further subdivided by adding from T2—41 and T2—42. This makes very specific number possible. Would the same pattern be worth considering for other parts of Europe, i.e. Germany, Austria, Netherlands, France, Belgium, Switzerland, Spain and Portugal? Scandinavia would not fit in to this, since the ancient history is classed in 936.3 Germanic regions, but the modern history is classed in 948 and not subordinate to 943.
