

A report from the EDU 930 Working Group meeting 12 August 2008

Unfortunately none of the group members (except me) were able to attend the scheduled working group meeting at IFLA. I was however able to discuss our proposals on the 930 schedule with Giles Martin, assistant editor of DDC, and later on assistant editor Julianne Beall and Federica Paradisi from Italy joined the discussion.

Giles Martin and Julianne Beall pointed out that the assistant editor in charge of the 930 schedule as well as Table 2, Winton Matthews, will soon retire and has a lot of tasks to complete before retiring. Therefore it seems wise to save the more complicated proposals until there is a new editor in charge of the 930 schedule.

We found that proposing geographic expansions in the 930 schedule and Table 2—3 would be a relatively simple issue, and a good thing to start with. After accomplishing that we will move on to more complicated and demanding areas.
