This year's CILIPS Annual Conference will feature a whole day's programme dedicated to career development issues, which will run alongside the main conference. This section of the programme has been developed in collaboration with the Career Development Group (Scottish Division), a CILIP Special Interest Group.

The day will begin with a whole conference keynote address by Jonathan Mitchener, BT futurologist and research scientist, who will discuss technological advances that could impact on library service delivery.

The career development element will include:

- National Occupational Standards session
- Thinking differently: 10 tips for realising your potential
- Delivering effective presentations
- Personal marketing: the art of marketing yourself
- Are we nearly there yet? A personal journey in leadership
- Impressing the employer

Delegates may choose to attend the entire career development strand or mix and match with the main conference programme and the additional school libraries strand.

Buses will depart the hotel at 5.15pm.
